Emotional Skipper Outlines Details In Cruise Ship Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Choking back sobs, Captain Alf Morner told Wednesday how he and his men crawled "like animals" through smoke-filled corridors in an attempt to save trapped crew members when the Norwegian cruise ship Meteor was hit by fire last Saturday. The fire alarm didn't work. Thirty-two crew members died but 67 passengers and 59 other members of the crew escaped when the blaze broke out in the crew quarters as the ship steamed through the Strait of Georgia 60 miles from Vancouver. Captain Morner said he led a small party of men into the fire area in the forward section of the 2,856-ton ship after ordering the Meteor's whistle "blown a large number of times" in place of the defective alarm.

He said he shook some bodies and was shocked to learn they were dead because they had not been burned. "When I saw them, it looked to me like they were sleeping," he testified at the opening of an inquest into the deaths.

NO WORD ON CAUSE
There was no evidence given Wednesday as to the cause of the fire, which broke out in the three or four places. Police have not ruled out the possibility of arson.

Tracing his movements on a chalk diagram of the ship's deck plan, Captain Morner said he could see flames through two doors near the bow which lead down through three decks of crew quarters.

He said he knew a man was trapped in a watch station at the top of the stairs but there was nothing he could do. He and his men then began crawling in the smoke-filled port side corridor of the upper deck and dragged about eight crew members from their cabins.

The captain said the seemingly unconscious victims were "just lying on the deck." "I wouldn't believe it when they were dead. I only had a handful of people with me—there wasn't much we could do. There were 60 people trapped down there."

DOOR BLOCKED
Captain Morner said he then made his way down to the lower crew deck but couldn't get in at first because something was blocking the door.

After kicking in the crash panel in the lower half of the door, he said he found five more dead trapped between the first door and a solid fire door.

The jury, which travelled to the drydocked ship and donned overalls and boots to examine the charred interior of the Meteor, heard coroner Glen McDonald read into the record a pathologist's report on the cause of death of 10 of the victims.

Etna Tireless In Lava Output
FORNIAZZO, Sicily (AP) — A new stream of lava from erupting Mount Etna reached the edge of this mountain-side crossroads village today and 20 of the most menaced houses were abandoned.

The flow which had threatened Forniazzo since the start of the week slowed and veered away from the village of 400 population. But a new lava stream 22 feet deep poured down this morning over the hardening old flow and surged to within 47 feet of the village.

New B.C. Fund Given Praise

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's new Drug, Alcohol and Cigarette Education, Prevention and Rehabilitation Fund was described Wednesday as "a matter of some satisfaction" by E. D. McRae, executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C.

He said in the foundation's annual report that the fund could "make possible a province wide and co-ordinated preventive thrust that may be second to none on this continent."

Foundation president Josephine Whitehouse said many general hospitals in B.C. now are shouldering greater responsibility for care and treatment of alcoholics, but clinical director Dr. B. B. Moscovitch criticized the persisting lack of hospital facilities.

"After being concerned with the treatment of alcoholics for over 17 years," he said, "one is unable to understand the reaction and poor response, by responsible people and bodies, to the problem of alcoholism."

Three Survive B.C. Air Crash
PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Three men were in hospital today with injuries suffered Wednesday when a Cessna 185 aircraft crashed into a swamp near Mackenzie, 120 miles north of this central British Columbia community.

The plane, owned by Northern Mountain Airways, was on a charter flight out of Prince George. Its destination was not known.

Verne Gautier of Vancouver, one of the passengers, was in satisfactory condition. He was taken to Prince George after he walked a mile from the crash scene to a highway to summon help.

In fair condition were pilot John Baxter of Vancouver and Kurt Vock of Prince George.

ORDER OF MERIT
LONDON (CP) — The Queen has bestowed one of her highest personal awards on former prime minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada, making him a member of the Order of Merit.

Pearson, who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1956, will join a distinctive group, limited to 24, selected for what Buckingham Palace described as "their special eminent service to the state."

They include scientists, poets, painters, musicians and military leaders. Pearson, 74, likely will get the blue and crimson ribbon and badge of oak leaves from the Queen at a palace ceremony later this year.

Established by King Edward VII in 1902, the order ranks high in the spectrum of chivalry, with successive sovereigns separating it from the field of normal political honors. It is the personal gift of the monarch.

GREENS HAVE MORE FUN?

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — Some Framingham State College co-eds complain that they have been taken showers and coming out green.

Other Framingham residents say the same thing is happening to their sinks, bathtubs, walls and clothes.

The blonde co-eds, who said they bleached their hair, told officials two weeks ago that their hair turned green after washing in town water.

They blamed the color change on the chlorine content of the town water, but Health Inspector George Smith says the chemical wouldn't have that effect.

Public Works Commissioner Susan Galvin said: "We have hired an outside consultant to investigate."

Kelowna Woman Killed

A Kelowna woman, Marion Alice Grierson, 72, the mother-in-law of provincial Health Minister Ralph Lofmark, was killed Wednesday in a traffic accident near Revelstoke.

Police said Mrs. Grierson of 1889 Abbott St., died in the crash when the car she was driving left the Trans-Canada Highway and plunged down an 80-foot embankment.

No further details were immediately available.

Surviving the accident victim are four daughters, including Mrs. Lofmark in Vancouver. The others are Mrs. D. M. Loan in Peachland, Mrs. K. C. Mayhew and Mrs. M. S. Watkins, both in Ottawa.

Funeral services for Mrs. Grierson will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Friday at 2:30 p.m.

Hospital Dispute Seen As Threat To All Of B.C.

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — The union representing about 180 employees of the Trail Regional Hospital served 72-hour strike notice Wednesday in a contract dispute which could eventually involve almost all 10,000 members of the British Columbia Hospital Employees' Union.

The dispute is complicated and goes back to a memorandum of agreement between the union and the B.C. Hospital Association in February, 1970 which was supposed to have solved it.

The BCHA and the union's disagreement over the interpretation of the memorandum of agreement has left 66 out of 70 B.C. hospitals without a signed contract and the Trail hospital with strike notice which expires at 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

The disagreement revolves around whether 12 Kootenay hospitals — which had special paid 30-minute meal breaks during afternoon and night shifts in previous contracts — still work under these conditions under the new, proposed contract which was supposed to be effective between Jan. 1, 1970, and Dec. 31, 1971.

There are 567 employees working for the 12 hospitals involved in Grand Forks, Rossland, Castlegar, Nelson, Trail, Nakusp, Creston, Cranbrook, Kimberley, Golden, Invermere and Fernie.

Their old contracts said their meal times were inclusive except on day shift.

On Feb. 12, 1970, the BCHA and the union notified the B.C. Mediation Commission they had reached agreement and submitted the memorandum of agreement which said nothing specific about the Kootenay meal time situation but change the weekly hours of work from 40 to 38½ during the first year and to 37½ hours per week from Jan. 1, 1971 to the end of the contract.

The association argues that the new clause in the memorandum of agreement covered all the employees, including the Kootenay workers, while the union argues the memorandum cannot take away rights previously obtained.

As a result of this disagreement, the association asked all its members, the 70 hospitals throughout B.C., not to sign the new contract which was reported ratified by the membership to the Mediation Commission.

Four hospitals did sign the new contract — they involved about 100 employees in Ocean Falls, Lillooet, Merritt and Smithers — because the clause did not involve them.

The other 66 hospitals, which the BCHA claims give it authority to bargain for them, did not sign the new contract.

One of those was the Trail hospital where the union attempted to get the 30-minute paid meal time, while the Trail trustees argued no contract existed.

Aussie Airline Offers $56,000 In Bid To Catch Bluff Artist

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Rewards totalling $56,400 were offered today for capture of the bandits who used a bomb scare bluff to con an Australian airline out of $560,000.

Police kept up a nationwide hunt for the bandits. Serial numbers of the ransom notes were circulated along with an artist's drawing of the man who picked up the cash. Interpol worked with Australian officials on the case.

Qantas, Australia's international airline, handed over the $560,000 in two blue suitcases to a man in the heart of Sydney late Wednesday afternoon after a telephone caller told it a bomb was aboard one of the line's Boeing 707s then en route to Hong Kong with 128 persons aboard.

The caller said the bomb was set to go off when the plane got below 20,000 feet. He directed Qantas officials to a locker at the airport where they found such a bomb along with notes telling how to disarm it and promising to give the location of the bomb aboard the plane after the money was paid.

The plane turned back to Sydney, but after the payment another call said there was no bomb aboard it. The plane landed safely with only five minutes gas left.

The man who collected the money escaped in the rush-hour traffic in a small yellow van. The van was found abandoned later.

Qantas public relations chief John Uim said the gang's "meticulous plan" suggested the threat was serious. "We were not going to take any blood risk on this one," he said.

Qantas General Manager Robert Ritchie paid the money in new Australian $20 bills.

YUBA CITY

Labor Contractor Charged After 12 Buried Bodies Found

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — A farm labor contractor is charged in a mass murder case that has yielded the hacked bodies of 12 men found buried in northern California peach orchards.

A search continued today for more possible victims of the assailant who hacked each of the 12 in the back of the head with a machete or a large, heavy knife.

Juan V. Corona, 37, a migrant labor recruiter for 15 years in Yuba City's peach and prune growing region, was held in isolation.

Corona was taken before a judge Wednesday for a brief, closed hearing on 10 counts of murder. Two bodies were found after those papers were drawn before the hearing. Sheriff Roy D. Whiteaker declared: "We're certain he committed the murders."

But he said he knew of no motive. "All of the murder victims have the same type of wounds in the back of the head," the sheriff said. "I would rule out an axe as the murder weapon."

"It could have been either a machete or a heavy knife," he said.

ARRESTED AT HOME
Corona was arrested shortly at his home after officers had dug nine victims from sandy orchard graves three to five feet deep.

The sheriff and his deputies refused to say what evidence pointed to the husky 5-foot-11 Mexican-American.

A police officer said the victims were "mostly winos—most of them were alcoholic types."

Sheriff Whiteaker said the oldest grave was about two months old and covered by grass. The most recent was less than 48 hours old, he said.

Canada 'Increasingly Turning' To Co-Operation With Russia

LENINGRAD (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said today Canada is increasingly turning its attention to the Soviet Union and foresees a new era of co-operation between the two northern neighbors.

"We are becoming aware of our partnership," Trudeau told the Leningrad City Soviet in a luncheon address.

Governmental exchange visits between Canada and Russia might one day lead to "a program of trans-Arctic co-operation of yet unforeseen nature," he said.

"That may be a dream, but surely there is an element of reality in it." Speaking on the last day of his 11-day Soviet tour, Trudeau said Canada looks as always to her European origins, "but she is increasingly turning her attention towards the Soviet Union, now that the obstacle of polar frontiers is being overcome and she is discovering her closeness to you."

"Your country is likely experiencing the same changes in outlook as you become aware of the closeness of Canada," he added.

"All barriers are giving way before the progress of science and technology..." Trudeau paid tribute to the "incredible heroism" of the people of Leningrad during the city's epic 900-day siege in the Second World War.

Earlier, he had placed a wreath of red and pink carnations at the base of a memorial to the estimated one million victims of the siege, at a cemetery where about half those who died were buried.

"Talk that the Liberal ship is sinking is utter rubbish!"

Ottawa 'Deliberately Created' Current Rise In Unemployed

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was accused today of deliberately engineering a rise in unemployment that will have no long-term economic benefits.

Dr. Clarence Barber, head of the University of Manitoba economics department and chairman of the royal commission on farm machinery, said government anti-inflation policy is causing a serious loss in production.

Egypt, Soviet Accuse U.S.
CAIRO (Reuters) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat blamed American support of Israel for spilling Middle East peace efforts and Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny accused the U.S. of having a direct interest in the continuation of Israeli aggression in speeches Wednesday night.

The two leaders were speaking at a dinner given in Podgorny's honor which lasted into the early hours of this morning. They continue their private talks today.

CHALLENGES CLAIMS
He challenged the claims of Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, and John Young, prices and incomes

Shorthand before Corona was led handcuffed into the jail with his head covered by a blanket, officers carried inside an axe, a pruning knife and a dirt-eared shovel.

"We think there are more bodies still," a policeman said. "We can smell something down there, but we haven't been able to find them yet."

Sheriff's officials said Corona was briefly committed to a local mental hospital in 1956.

Queen Pays Pearson High Honor

LONDON (CP) — The Queen has bestowed one of her highest personal awards on former prime minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada, making him a member of the Order of Merit.

Pearson, who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1956, will join a distinctive group, limited to 24, selected for what Buckingham Palace described as "their special eminent service to the state."

Englishman Kenneth Crutchlow and Paxton Deale of San Francisco left San Francisco Saturday, as did the 30,000-ton ship.

The cyclists reached this central B.C. city Wednesday and were expected today in Prince Rupert, B.C., where they plan to catch a plane to Ketchikan. The Arcadia is due in the Alaska port Friday.

Crutchlow and Deale are riding in two-hour shifts. One pedals while the other rests in a van that accompanies them.

Niagara Escarpment Dispute A Taste Of Trouble To Davis

TORONTO (CP) — A controversy over Niagara Escarpment land deals represents the first taste of serious trouble for the new government of Premier William Davis.

In power only three months, Mr. Davis faced his first major governmental crisis by ordering a judicial inquiry into the province's purchase last March 31 of 506 acres of prime escarpment land from a company with prominent Progressive Conservative supporters on its board of directors.

The inquiry will be concerned only with the integrity of the deals and not with the broader issue of whether or not government land-buying policies are adequate to save the escarpment from private developers.

Opposition parties in the legislature said these policies so far have brought exaggerated profits to Caledon Mountain Estates Ltd., a public corporation and major landholder with 3,500 acres on the escarpment.

The escarpment is a unique geological formation which stretches 250 miles from the Bruce Peninsula in Georgian Bay to Queenston Heights in the Niagara River. It is a wealthy source of quarrying materials and a good location for private homes.

WANTS AIR CLEARED

The government purchases were in the Caledon Hills area at the forks of the Credit River, about 40 miles northwest of Metropolitan Toronto, and near Brampton.

Conflicting reports on important details, and whether there were information leaks, prompted Mr. Davis to seek an impartial investigation to clear the air, although he maintained that cabinet studies prove the government is innocent of any wrongdoing.

Opposition members fear the inquiry will sidetrack the major issue of the government's seeming slowness in saving the escarpment for recreational purposes. Such a program was urged on them as far back as 1955 when the Credit Valley Conservation Authority advocated establishment of a provincial park at the forks of the river.

The government already has had difficulty in fielding opposition questions during a week of heated debate in the legislature, with ministers contradicting each other on the floor of the house.

Canada, U.S. Near Accord On Cleaning Great Lakes

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada and the United States are understood to be nearing agreement on a drastic new program to save the Great Lakes from being choked by human and industrial pollution.

One source close to the negotiations has said the ultimate agreement could prove to be unique in the history of relations between nations, because of the extent of co-operation involved.

Although details of the proposals under study are being carefully withheld for now, informed sources indicate the final agreement between the two countries is likely to include:

- A significant expansion of the role of the International Joint Commission, giving it greater responsibility for detecting sources of pollution in the Great Lakes and the international section of the St. Lawrence River, as well as increased staff and equipment to cope with its expanded role.
- Improved means for either the IJC or individual governments to bring pressure to bear on other federal, state and municipal authorities so that the Great Lakes are cleaned up and kept clean.

— A co-ordinated approach to legislation and regulations in the two countries, covering such areas as water-quality standards, the uses that can be made of Great Lakes water, and the level of pollution of any sort that can be tolerated.

MEETING NEXT STEP

The next major step in the program, informants say, is a one-day meeting at the state department here June 10.

At that time, high-level representatives from both countries are expected to give formal approval to plans drafted in recent months by committees of Canadian and American technical experts.

The informants cautioned against expecting dramatic announcements from the June 10 meeting, but insisted the eventual agreement is likely to be exceptional.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp is likely to head a Canadian delegation that will include Energy Minister J. J. Greene, Fisheries Minister Jack Davis and a senior representative of the Ontario government.

Further meetings of senior American and Canadian civil servants are likely to be necessary before a final agreement is prepared. It is hoped by next fall.

ASKED BIGGER ROLE

The IJC, whose role in the past has largely been one of backstopping negotiation and diplomatic pressure, had asked in its January report for a more active part to play in ending an almost uncontrolled flush of municipal sewage and industrial pollution which has already "killed" parts of Lake Erie and threatens Lake Ontario.

Informants indicated that both countries had backed away from any suggestion of creating a "police" power for the IJC in the sense of having powers of enforcement—because of the implications for national sovereignty and because adequate policing powers are said to exist already in each country.

But some new methods by which violations are brought to public and government attention are likely to be included in the final program.

Chancellor Ignores Kiss

VANCOUVER (CP) — A history graduate kissed the feet of University of British Columbia Chancellor Allan McGavin Wednesday during the first day of the annual congregation as a protest against unemployment.

David Stuart Carrell made a sweeping bow, planted a kiss on the toes of Mr. McGavin's oxford and handed the chancellor a statement condemning unemployment, prepared by the Alma Mater Society and a group called the Human Resource Organization.

Mr. McGavin hardly batted an eye. He calmly handed him his diploma and only a few snickers were heard from the audience.

Mr. Carrell said after the ceremonies that he has been looking for a job since graduating last year and will take anything that pays over $3 an hour to make it more worthwhile than collecting welfare.

"I like the idea of teaching, but I know 30 teachers who are unemployed," he said.

The statement said 26 per cent of the total doctorate output at UBC in the past two years is still unemployed.

"Dominion Bureau of Statistics showed that in 1969-70, the unemployment figures for BAs and MAs in each category was 10 per cent," it said.

"Inflation is on the rise despite claims of victory and so is unemployment among skilled labor, including university graduates."

Japan Appeases U.S. Car Fears

TOKYO (Reuter) — Leading Japanese car manufacturers are planning to raise their export prices in the United States to slow down a sharp increase in American imports of Japanese cars.

Toyota Motor Co. said the price increases would be enforced from September, but could not disclose their extent.

Nissan Motor Co. said another reason for raising its export prices was to prepare for a revaluation of the yen, but Toyota said this was not a factor in its calculations.

Both Nissan and Toyota also cited increased costs, including expenditure for anti-pollution and safety devices, as partly responsible for the price rises.

They also said the increases would slow down their export drive and appease U.S. opinion against increased car imports.

Lots Of My Lais Says U.S. Colonel

FORT MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson, accused in the alleged coverup of the My Lai massacre, says: "every brigade in Vietnam has had its My Lai—not of the same size and scope—but the brigade commander doesn't know."

Henderson, 50, also told reporters here during a break in an evidence hearing concerning his case that he also offered to take the blame for the My Lai incident but was turned down by the army.

Henderson, who commanded the 11th Infantry Brigade when one of its companies swept through My Lai, said he made the offer in a letter Dec. 10, 1969, to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the army chief of staff.

Chester Ronning Reaches China

HONG KONG (AP) — Chester A. Ronning, former Canadian ambassador to pre-Communist China, crossed the border into Hong Kong today after a month-long visit to China.

Ronning was accompanied by his daughter, Sylvia Hannah Cassidy, and a three-man Canadian television crew.

Another daughter, Audrey Elaine Topping, remained in China with her husband, New York Times correspondent Seymour Topping, who now is visiting China.

One Canadian source said Ronning probably would not comment on his China visit prior to his return to Canada within the next day or so.

AT CONVENTION

HERE JUNE 6

Revelstoke Seeks To Ban Hitchhiking

Resolutions ranging from a ban on highway hitchhiking to a moratorium on proposals for superhighways carrying Alaska oil down the British Columbia coast will be put before delegates to the 20th annual general meeting of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce starting here June 6.

The delegates, representing about 100 chambers and boards throughout B.C., also will hear speakers talking on the conference theme: "The Deadly Spiral of Inflation."

Poverty and hitchhiking, submitted by the Revelstoke chamber, points out that "transients hitchhiking throughout our province constitute a traffic hazard and a nuisance."

It also claims the presence of hitchhikers is potentially dangerous to the tourist industry.

The resolution calls for the enactment and enforcement of "suitable legislation prohibiting the practice of hitchhiking along our major highways."

Both the Coquitlam and Salt Spring Island chambers will put forward resolutions on proposed oil tanker traffic along the coast.

NO GUARANTEES

The Coquitlam resolution says "there can be no guarantee against a disastrous oil spill... which will affect our coastal shores and waters."

It urges that "all governments involved hold a moratorium on the seaborne transport proposal until such time as adequate safeguards against sea spillage can be guaranteed or until a satisfactory alternative proposal can be developed."

The Salt Spring Island resolution recommends that the B.C. Chamber of Commerce "use its good offices" to prevent such use of tankers and to "urge the federal government to work co-operatively with groups in the United States having similar concerns."

Nanaimo is also concerned about coastal water, urging that Canada and the U.S. should jointly establish along the entire North American west coast a system of accurate, blind navigational aids coupled with a compulsory radio reporting system to a central office.

Marietta Gives Up Rehearsal For Police Band Performance

A last-minute change Wednesday afternoon allowed the RCMP band to play in the Kelowna Community Theatre instead of the Kelowna and District Memorial Arena.

The band played here under the auspices of the Kelowna Rotary Club as part of provincial centennial observances.

The community theatre was booked in January for May 20-29 for a production of Naughty Marietta, a musical comedy, by students of Immaculate High School.

Warmer

Friday was expected to be a little warmer following evening cloud and thundershowers forecast for today. Temperatures in Kelowna and district Wednesday were a high and low of 72 and 46, with today having a high and low forecast of 76 and 43, and Friday's expected high is 78.

Peter Robichaud Services Monday

Funeral services will be held from St. Paul's Church Monday at 10 a.m. for Peter Joseph Robichaud, who died Wednesday at the age of 86.

Mr. Robichaud is survived by his wife Hazel, three sons, Peter in Vancouver, Samuel in Kamloops, and William in Vancouver; four daughters, Mrs. Walter Gans in Vancouver, Mrs. Archie Shaw in Sudbury, Mrs. Colleen Dvorak in Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Harvey Divil in Kimberley; 16 grandchildren, seven great grandchildren, and one brother and one sister in New Brunswick.

Prayers and rosary will be recited in Day's Chapel of Remembrance Sunday at 8 p.m. Rev. C. P. Mulvihill will conduct services with interment in the Catholic Cemetery, Okanagan Mission.

Day's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

MATHESON CONCERT

Pupils and teachers of Matheson Elementary School will present a centennial concert at 7:30 p.m. tonight and Friday at the school.

Opera performances will be given tonight, Friday and Saturday, but the theatre was booked from last Thursday so props could be set up and rehearsals held. The school paid $400 in advance for the building.

Neil Cassidy, who is in charge of the school production, said props were set in place over the holiday weekend on the theatre stage. Students moved them Wednesday afternoon, and put them back today.

"We were having a rehearsal in the theatre about 3:30 p.m. when we were asked to give it up for Wednesday night," he said. "I felt the students could do without another rehearsal."

Because of the change, the band concert was delayed about 10 minutes. The theatre was full for the program.

"It was all a misunderstanding," said Harold Pretwell, chairman of the Rotary committee. "The band understood they were to play in the theatre but the local centennial committee had booked the arena. The band was most unhappy with the arena."

HOLIDAY GIVEN SOME STUDENTS

Three official school openings have provided an official holiday for the students and staff of five School District 23 schools.

Peachland Elementary school, officially opened Wednesday, was given an official holiday today by Premier W.A.C. Bennett.

Premier Bennett began his well received extra holiday giving Wednesday at the opening of K.L.O. Junior Secondary school, when students were informed they could have the day off.

The Ellison Elementary School, Rutland, will have a day off also. Opened by Education Minister Donald Brodie, it will be closed Friday as its official holiday.

Friday as a holiday also applies to two other schools, Peachland Primary and Ellison Primary.

In Court Today

A youth on probation for 11 incidents of theft committed while he was a juvenile pleaded guilty Wednesday to eight other incidents committed following his birthday in January.

Daniel Germaine Pinette admitted breaking, entering and theft Feb. 5 and 10 at the Mission Creek Store, theft of tires and rims belonging to Tom Walker Car Sales Ltd. of Rutland Jan. 22, theft of five CNR railway signal lamps Feb. 1, stealing a snowmobile and trailer owned by Nels Nelson Jan. 22, breaking, entering and theft Feb. 6 at Rutland Elementary School, theft of gas owned by Bennett Ranches Ltd. of Rutland Jan. 25, and stealing a city traffic caution sign between Jan. 25-30.

Sgt. John Graham, court prosecutor, said the youth co-operated with police, and most of the items were returned to their owners.

In juvenile court in February, the youth admitted the other 11 matters, was placed on probation for a year, and fined $10 on each charge. He is employed at present, and was said to have committed the offences "mainly for kicks."

The prosecutor said the youth wished to plead not guilty to another matter, so Judge White delayed sentencing until June 25.

Barry Conrad Mason, Robert James Giesbrecht and Randolph Milner pleaded not guilty to vagrancy, and were remanded to June 3. They are listed as having no fixed addresses. A juvenile is also charged in this.

Again this morning, Judge D. M. White refused to give a man who pleaded guilty to driving while his blood alcohol content exceeded .08 per cent permission to drive for business purposes during the period of suspension.

Leonard Barry Hellyer, who is moving from Salmon Arm to Kelowna, was charged after his car was seen occupying both lanes early this morning at Harvey Avenue and Glenmore Street.

Earlier this year, Judge White gave drivers permission to drive for business during suspension periods, but the B.C. superintendent of motor vehicles overruled these decisions.

Recently the B.C. appeal court said the superintendent exceeded his jurisdiction in ordering total suspensions without investigating each case.

Lawyer Howard Berge said Mr. Hellyer requires his car for work, and requested suspension with permission to drive for work.

The judge claimed 72 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents were caused by alcohol. In England and other countries, drivers are suspended for two years on the first offence involving drinking, and for life on the second.

Mr. Hellyer was fined $250 and suspended for a month.

A young woman who said she was driving 95 miles an hour in an effort to lose a car tailing her was fined $100 and suspended from driving for two months.

Shirley Martin, who came from Ottawa to Rutland, admitted driving without due care and attention May 25. After police said her car was stopped on Highway 97 where the speed limit changes from 40 to 50 miles per hour, she was excused from court to get her driver's licence.

When Mrs. Martin returned, she asked if she could change her plea, but the judge said "no" because the circumstances had already been given. She then said three men in another car were "tailing" her, and she was trying to lose them.

The judge said she should have reported this to police.

Donald Bradley Cretin of Kelowna was acquitted on a theft charge.

Gordon Gerry Abrams of Kelowna was convicted of assault causing bodily harm, and remanded to June 9 for pre-sentencing report. He was charged with hitting Oscar George Reeves, also of Kelowna, after Mr. Reeves' car cut Mr. Abrams' car off on Pandosy Street on Easter Sunday morning. There was no accident.

Pianist And Bear Share Camp

Meeting a bear unexpectedly on a woodland trail can be disconcerting. The experience can also be dangerous and expensive.

Fortunately for Anthony Booker, pianist with the Canadian School of Ballet in Kelowna, the sudden confrontation with a fuzzy monarch of the forest late Tuesday at Cedar Creek proved merely frightening.

Mr. Booker, who left his native England for British Columbia last September, has been camping in the Cedar Creek region for the past month. While returning to his campsite Tuesday, he encountered a brown bear about 11 p.m. which, happily for Mr. Booker, turned and fled.

Further investigation proved Mr. Booker's second fear to be true. His campsite had been almost completely demolished by the bad bear.

Undaunted but wiser, Mr. Booker is now camping on a beach owned by Dr. Gwenth Lloyd, who related the bear facts to the Courier Wednesday.

$1,000 DAMAGE

A car reported driven by Gene Negrey of Penticton received about $1,000 damage in an accident Wednesday morning on Highway 97 near Kelowna.

Could Be 'Forest Of Steel' From Enderby To Osoyoos

Prospects of heavy industrial development in the North Okanagan were dealt a blow Wednesday when about 90 persons attended an open meeting in the Vernon Community Centre aimed at testing public opinion on the future of the Okanagan Valley.

Called by the Okanagan Basin Water Board at the instigation of Vernon Mayor William Halina, the meeting was considered an experimental gathering to find out whether similar public meetings could usefully be held in other Okanagan centres.

Purpose of the meetings is to plot public desires for community development before final results of the four-year $2 million federal-provincial Okanagan basin water study are tabulated in 1973.

With the exception of the Vernon Jaycees who felt controlled light industry could fit compatibly into the Okanagan scene, the briefs and personal views presented Wednesday put agricultural and tourist, development above all else.

The farmers and orchardists, while appreciating the concern shown for their future, countered with the economic fact of life "we cannot make our farms pay so we have to sell to developers to survive."

The meeting kicked off with introductions from Mayor Halina, North Okanagan MLA Pat Jordan, and water board secretary-manager William P. Par-chomchuk, who outlined the functions of the board and how the study would progress.

FOREST OF STEEL

Basil Edwards of the Lumby Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture urged a revision "of our thinking" before the Okanagan "becomes a forest of steel and wood with concrete and farmland for a floor all the way from Osoyoos to Enderby."

Mayor Halina, speaking for

Vernon city council, brought prolonged applause when he proposed the environment of the valley be preserved "at all costs," despite the cries of a few who would like factories "at their back door."

While he recognized that industry compatible with the environment would be welcomed, he said "We cannot have our cake and eat it too. We cannot have a healthy environment and factories at our back door. We must make a choice."

Armstrong branch of the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control expressed concern about the subdivision of productive agricultural land, and recommended the development of land banks and incentive programs to prevent farmers selling off their land to pay for the high cost of farming.

The farmer is the best contributor to the tourist industry, the brief said.

North Okanagan Regional District Director Len Bawtree, also a water board director, expressed his personal views when he declared misuse of land is just as serious as misuse of the water.

Urging proper use of land to control urbanization Mr. Bawtree reminded his listeners that "it is later than we think."

Vernon SPEC branch sought payment from polluting sources, and in an aside at the new Winfield distillery, said "whisky is not worth the risk."

FOOD CENTRE

The North Okanagan Farmers' Institute from Grindrod endorsed Mr. Bawtree's brief with additions of their own, pointing out that with the growth of the Lower Mainland and Fraser Valley people would turn to the interior as a food centre.

The Lumby and District Wildlife Association, Vernon Kiwanis Club, Okanagan Centre - Winfield Irrigation District, and numerous personal briefs all accented the same urge for an undeveloped environment.

The only other voice of dis-sension over tourism and agriculture came from Vernon resident Tom Thorlakson, who said tourists are regarded as "sacred cows" yet they are uncontrollable and are "here today and gone tomorrow," often using the nearest bush beside the lake as a washroom.

Stuart Hellis, for the Vernon Jaycees said the "great bear of industry can be tamed."

The brief proposed development "in a sensible way," and suggested development of more suitable types of industries to take the pressure off other industries such as those that pollute.

Concern over the Beapark Ranch development, west of Vernon, was another problem voiced, while proposals for wildlife sanctuaries and dissatisfaction with Resources Minister Ray Williston were raised.

After the two-hour meeting, Vernon Mayor Halina said he was satisfied.

"There were a lot of interested people from different groups here... that's what counts. The people's briefs and comments showed the trend of their thinking. Everybody wants to preserve the environment. That is what we want to get across."

Water board chairman W. C. Bennett of Kelowna said he was satisfied with the attendance and was encouraged to arrange similar meetings elsewhere in the Okanagan.

He said he was impressed with briefs presented which should give the elected representatives the chance of getting what the people want.

A second public meeting has been tentatively set for Penticton in June.

... But No Pulp Mill Planned

Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. told the Courier today it has no intention of building a pulp mill in the Okanagan Valley.

Robert G. Rogers, company president, made this announcement from Vancouver after being told Kelowna branch of the Society for Pollution and Environmental Control was opposed to erecting a mill in this region.

In a brief to a meeting of NDP MLAs here Saturday, H. D. Arnold, vice-president of the local group, said "While the whole proposal as to a specific location is shrouded in secrecy, the matter is under active study by the Crown Zellerbach interests."

Kelowna branch of SPEC endorsed the position stated last year by the Okanagan Basin Water Board, that a pulp mill should not be located in the basin due to insufficient water.

A four-year study financed by the federal and provincial governments to determine quantity, quality and use of water is nearing its second year.

"In December, 1969, we announced the start of site and economic feasibility studies for a pulp mill in the southern interior region of B.C.," said Mr. Rogers.

"These studies are continuing. We have not selected a site from a number still under consideration."

"To clear up any misconceptions which may exist, we have never had any intention of building a mill in the Okanagan Valley. The mill, however, would use residual wood fibre from our Okanagan region lumber mills and plywood plants."

"Site selection and other decisions will be made only after we are satisfied we can meet or exceed all reasonable air and water quality control standards."

"Moreover, we could not proceed with construction until detailed discussions were held with the many governmental agencies having jurisdiction," he stated.

Use Of Pension Funds Urged To Provide Housing Loans

Use of money in provincial employee pension funds for housing was suggested during an NDP caucus here.

John O. Powell, a school teacher, suggested the money be loaned at rates below those charged by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. or other agencies.

Mr. Powell said these funds have equalled about $1.4 billion. Provincial NDP leader Dave Barrett said he would favor provincial money being loaned for housing on municipally-owned land.

The B.C. treasury board determines priorities "in an automatic fashion," Mr. Powell charged, urging these expenditures be subject to scrutiny by the legislature.

Mr. Powell suggested government agencies be able to borrow as they wish, and the provincial government should look to European money markets instead of just American ones.

A national student exchange program was proposed by Dave Dendy, a local youth. He said programs now operated are open to only a few students.

When Gordon Dowding, Burnaby-Edmonds, heard that summer employment prospects for young people here are "bad," he suggested they take jobs held by older people, and let the latter go on exchange programs.

In other news Kelowna General Hospital is the "Ritz Carlton" while the hospital in Salmon Arm is "the back alley," the meeting was told.

Bruce Leggett of Sorrento, near Salmon Arm, an NDP candidate in the last provincial election, said the hospital board there has to "haggle" with the provincial government for money to build an addition.

Mr. Leggett said a new highway between Grindrod and Sicamous, proposed by the government, is not required, and there is a road between them now.

He also warned that public indignation about being denied access to Shuswap Lake is "going to boil over" in the Sorrento area.

What It's All About

The Ontology Society in Kelowna is a group of people who study the meaning of life.

The movement was started about 1930, but the local society only began about seven years ago. It has about 10 members, with school teacher Ken Walters as director.

Meetings are held twice weekly in homes, and some are in the chapel of Kelowna General Hospital because one member has been there for many years.

A public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Bijou Theatre on Bertram Street. Speakers will be columnist-lecturer Michael Cecil and orchardist Carl Richmond.

SEEN and HEARD

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, and Education Minister Donald Brodie, here for the official opening of K.L.O. Ellison and Peachland schools Wednesday, were targets for a friendly pun from school board chairman J. W. Maddock during K.L.O. ceremonies. Following presentation of snappy straw hats from K.L.O. student council president Kathy Stapleton, the government leaders smiled broadly when chairman Maddock commented to the gathering: "Now they'll both do a number."

Kelowna residents saw a side of policemen not normally witnessed by the general public. People attending a concert by the RCMP band saw members, fully trained in police work, as top notch entertainers... and in some cases, "real swingers," at the school.

FOR SENIOR SKILLS

William Newton and Fred Kelly put their mental skills in a game of cards. The park is a popular spot for Kelowna residents and tourists during warm summer days. Its facilities were used to capacity during the May 24 holiday weekend. Plans are being made to redevelop the park, involving removing some of the asphalt and creating more green areas. ## All For The Good

The field of diplomacy, wherein change traditionally is wrought slowly and often tediously, has been hit in recent weeks by a series of shockwaves that have pretty well redrawn the political map of the Atlantic.

The Canadian-Soviet pact unveiled on Prime Minister Trudeau's Moscow visit last week plays no small part, say Washington observers, in the new set of balances that have suddenly evolved.

Coming as it did in sequence with the new ping-pong diplomacy between Washington and Peking, and the apparent break in the Washington-Kremlin impasse over disarmament, it was enough to boggle the minds of many a veteran observer.

But with all that, many point to several recent U.S. Senate votes as perhaps the most significant of all in the long run. Although that body rejected the idea of the U.S. unilaterally cutting by half its 300,000-man troop deployment in Europe, the closeness of the margin clearly indicated that the day is coming sooner rather than later when the American presence there is going to be pared down sharply.

The Washington Post, saying Washington can hardly avoid remaining the leader of the West, adds however that "increasingly the West will not be acting as an American-directed whole, as it so often did in the post-war years."

While Washington was busy making new friends in the Communist world, and Trudeau and Prime Minister Kosygin were shaking hands over their new agreement, Prime Minister Heath of Britain and French President Pompidou were agreeing to agree on the Common Market.

Final negotiations next month should clear the way for British entry they concluded, thus rearranging some vital ebbs and flows in Atlantic trade patterns.

Perhaps because of all this activity, the Canadian-Soviet agreement did not cause as much comment here as it might otherwise have.

While the state department had an official—and predictable—"no comment," most observers and commentators seem generally to applaud what one paper termed Canada's indulgence in "late-blooming nationalism."

They were relieved by Trudeau's reiteration that Canada would continue to treat the U.S. as its "closest friend and ally." The promise of regular Soviet-Canadian meetings at a high level could not help but be of some value—how much remained to be seen—in the context of over-all East-West relations. It couldn't do much harm.

The Americans underline the fact that the pact specifically states that it would in no way affect either government's agreements with other countries. These would include, in Canada's case, alliances with the U.S. in NATO and the North American Air Defence Command.

Thus there was an inclination to sympathize with the Canadians in their efforts to break free of the smothering embrace of the U.S. and to make new friends elsewhere. The New York Times brought forth the interesting idea that such a Canadian move was overdue and came not so much as a result of the personal diplomacy of Trudeau as the recent turn of events in Canada. It says:

"In all probability, anyone becoming Canada's prime minister in 1968 as Trudeau did would have taken a more openly independent stance toward the United States than Lester Pearson had done. It was a time of great Canadian disillusionment over the American adventure in Vietnam, mounting doubts about this country's capacity for coping with its racial problems and growing Canadian fears about American domination and loss of national identity."

Reflecting the view of many American observers, The Times concludes:

"If the agreement makes the United States less inclined to take Canada for granted and more sensitive to Canadian concerns for protecting the Arctic and avoiding American domination, it will be all to the good."

Power Struggle May Sink Yahya

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Despite repeated assurances from military ruler Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan that he is seeking a way to democratic rule, Pakistan's hopes for a peaceful power transfer to civilians have faded since the crackdown in East Pakistan.

What has become more visible is that a junta of generals is growing up around Yahya and becoming a threat to his continued rule.

An indication of the difficult times expected is a remark from former foreign minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto made to his associates: "By November, I'll either be in power or in jail."

Since the army arrested East Pakistani leader Sheikh Mujibur Rahman and banned his majority Awami League, Bhutto has the best claim to any Pakistani politician to popular support. His Pakistan People's party, campaigning almost exclusively in West Pakistan on an Islamic-Socialist platform, won 81 of the 138 National Assembly seats in the West in December.

DISREGARD APPEALS The army has turned aside his appeals for civilian governments at least in West Pakistan's four provinces, which were untouched by the fighting 1,000 miles to the east.

The military, with the support of Bhutto's right-wing opponents, has refused the transfer on the grounds it cannot be done in the West until the East is ready, otherwise the move would force the accusations the West is keeping the East as a colony.

At the same time, little hope is held out for politics in the East.

Nurul Amin, 77-year-old one-time East Bengal chief minister and the top Eastern politician still surviving, told Yahya no one is available to accept political power with the smashing of the Awami League.

The generals now making the decisions in addition to Yahya include:

—Gen. Abdul Hamid Khan, 54, the Punjab-born army chief of staff and deputy chief martial law administrator under Yahya, to whom he is believed to be personally loyal.

—Lt. Gen. S. H. G. Peerzada, 53, the Bombay-born principal staff officer under Yahya, a role which had made him military prime minister of Pakistan since the martial law takeover in March 1969.

—Maj. Gen. Ghulam Omar, 49, a migrant from east Punjab in India at partition and now secretary of the National Security Council, which is headed by a policeman brother of Yahya. In the job he has access to civilian and military intelligence and is in close touch with the president.

—Maj. Gen. Mohammed Akbar Khan, 50, Punjab head of military intelligence, a hardliner against a turnover of power to civilians and a rival in intelligence work to Omar.

Despite the loyalty of Gen. Hamid Khan, moderate politicians in West Pakistan, seeking to promote a "democratic" civilian regime without the Socialist-minded Bhutto, believe he might be a candidate to replace Yahya and to set the stage for a reconciliation with Sheikh Mujib.

OUR ECONOMY

Business Schools Grow Fast

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA — University business schools are a comparatively recent development in Canada. Within the past decade they have been the fastest growing sector of higher education.

According to a study prepared for the Economic Council of Canada, however, their growth has been long on quantity and short on quality. They need more funds, more attention from university authorities, from business and from government if they are to provide the country with the number of competent executives that will be needed in the future.

American universities, the report notes, were pioneers in the development of the business school. Canadian universities followed along and now there are over 14,000 students enrolled in under-graduate courses at Canadian universities 5.6 per cent of total enrolment. More students are enrolled in business administration courses than in agriculture, dentistry, law, medicine or theology.

SCHOOLS SLOW

The economic council study was made by Max Von Zur-Muehlen and run to more than 200 pages. It reports on what students, governments and the public get for the money they spend on business education and find they should get more. It finds the schools have been too slow in developing advanced study programs at the doctoral level and provisions of fellowships and research facilities.

The schools are also faulted for failure to use the services of business executives in their areas who have both academic qualifications and experience as decision-makers in business.

Zur-Muehlen found staff members spend 20 per cent of their time on administration and perhaps 25 per cent on outside business activities. This leaves too little for teaching and research.

The author thinks business professors should keep contacts with the world of business and should not be denied the chance to earn income from serving business outside the university. He merely thinks too many of them do too much outside work and not enough for the universities or their students.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

He said he was surprised to find that business school professors are seldom involved in the administrations of their own universities. He felt they could contribute much more than they now do to the planning and budgetary decision-making of the universities.

For the decade ahead he suggests the schools concentrate on improving the standards of their teaching and research programs. Federal and provincial governments should get into the act since they contribute to the financing of higher education and are large employers of business school graduates. Both levels of government are also concerned with economic development which to a large extent depends on the availability of managerial capacity and know-how. They should demand better performance.

The general suggestion seems to be that from here on universities and their business faculties should concentrate on improving their performance as teaching institutions, rather than enlarging their enrollment or their staffs.

The government nationalized the Bank of Canada 33 years ago today—in 1938—only three years after it had opened its doors for business. The central bank opened in March, 1935, acted as the government's banker and managed the public debt. The bank also took over the government note issue and the gold held against it. The Bank of Canada became the sole issuer of paper currency in Canada and the chartered banks withdrew their own note issues during a 15-year period. In addition to issuing and distributing paper currency, the bank distributes coinage struck by the Royal Canadian Mint.

Lonely Classroom For This Girl

AMIDON, N.D. (AP) — Linda Lambourn, a fourth grader, is the only pupil in the San Creek school, a white-frame structure surrounded by grain fields in southwest North Dakota.

Evelyn Ferguson, her teacher, doesn't let the minuscule size of the student body bother her, though. She teaches a full line of geography, arithmetic, spelling, language and science—even draws lessons just as though she had a larger class.

The parents of nine-year-old Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lambourn, farm and ranch just across the road. At the moment before the 9 a.m. school bell, Linda leaves home and is never late.

Next year San Creek will close and its entire enrolment—Linda—will go to the Bowman public school where there now are 54 fourth graders.

Many of the children on surrounding farms and ranches who normally would attend San Creek have gone to Bowman, 25 miles south of here, because they have older brothers and sisters in high school there.

Mrs. Ferguson said San Creek was kept operating for one year by area residents, many of them without school-age children.

One Hour Too Late

(Nanaimo Free Press)

One day last month a 40-foot yacht was holed and sunk near Campbell River. But before it went down the two men aboard sent out two radio messages, giving their location to air-sea rescue and to Vancouver. One hour and five minutes later a plane took off on a rescue mission. The men were found dead in their life jackets.

They may have died so quickly that no rescue mission would have been able to save them, no matter how quickly it was dispatched. Finding two men in the straits can be a hopeless task even if the rescuers arrive immediately. On the other hand, there is a chance that the men survived in the water for hours. The bodies were located almost eight hours after the accident. The point is that the accident took place within 12 miles of the Canadian Forces Base at Comox.

When the emergency call came in there was no crew at hand to man the rescue plane. The crewmen of the aircraft had to be called from their homes. Also, investigation showed that Air Sea Rescue made no effort to advise other local aid in the disaster area, such as the commercial seaplane base at Campbell River which could have had a plane in the air in 15 minutes.

Several Island municipalities have backed Campbell River council in a protest to elected officials. The situation is one of importance in Nanaimo, also, especially when it is considered that two experienced local boatmen were lost in a similar mishap in our local waters last week.

While the existing air-sea rescue service has earned many praises for rescue missions which were successful, it does appear that the service needs to plug some gaps. The fleet of pleasure boats in this community is expanding rapidly. There are more and more inexperienced people on the water every day and they should be assured of the same speedy assistance in time of trouble that they might expect on the highways. A person can often afford to wait for help when his car breaks down, but when a boat breaks down the results of any delay can be fatal.

Quebec Starts Honing Its Blades For Struggle Of Confederation

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government is getting ready for a struggle of wits with its partners in Confederation at next month's constitutional conference, says a qualified government source.

The source, who did not want to be identified, said in an interview Tuesday the constitutional conference in Victoria June 14-16 will be "the most important ever" and could conceivably be the last.

He said Quebec's demands in the field of social policies are pitted against the impatience of Ottawa and the other provinces with Quebec's refusal to accept a proposal for repatriating and amending the constitution.

He said the three Prairie premiers—Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan, Harry Strom of Alberta and Ed Schreyer of Manitoba—have indicated individually that they will not attend any future constitutional conference if no agreement is reached at the Victoria conference on the amending formula.

He said the three gave the indications at the last conference in February and that he believes that they still hold the same opinions.

WOULD DISAPPOINT HIM

In Winnipeg Tuesday night, Premier Schreyer of Manitoba said it would be "safe to say I would be very disappointed" if the conference rejected the amending formula; but he ventured no opinion on what effect a rejection would have on future conferences.

Premier Strom of Alberta said last week there must be agreement at this conference on some points or there would be no purpose in continuing discussions.

Premier Thatcher, who has called a provincial election in Saskatchewan for June 23, was en route to a political meeting in Watrous, Sask., and unavailable for comment.

The Quebec government source said the provinces other than Quebec, especially the Prairie provinces really want only a formula which "brings home" the Canadian constitution after more than 103 years of Confederation.

ONLY BY BRITISH

The British North America Act of 1867, which created Confederation and forms the basis of the Canadian constitution, is a British law which can only be amended at present by the British parliament upon an address from Canada.

In addition to a new amending formula, the source said, Ottawa wants to have guarantees of the language rights of cultural minorities in each of the provinces entrenched in the constitution.

The source said Quebec is alone in wanting substantial changes in the distribution of constitutional powers between the federal and provincial governments.

He said that for Quebec to accept the repatriation and amending formula without first having received guarantees that it would get the constitutional powers it wants would effectively end the negotiations.

Once the other governments had got what they wanted, they would lose interest in substantial constitutional revision, and Quebec would be left alone pushing for negotiations.

Quebec was holding out its agreement to the formula worked out at the last constitutional conference, held Feb. 8-9 in Ottawa, in an attempt to get prior agreement on a new distribution of powers in the field of social policies, he said.

THINKS WILL TAKE IT

The source said Quebec would probably accept the formula if it got much of what it wants first because it does not expect that a much better formula could be worked out.

He said Premier Robert Bourassa's announced intention to have the formula studied by legal experts to determine its implications for Quebec was a tactical move to enable him to avoid giving his immediate approval.

The implications of the formula were self-evident and needed no study.

He said that, if Quebec does not get enough of the powers it wants, it could reject the formula on the grounds that the three Opposition parties in the Quebec national assembly have termed it unacceptable.

Mr. Bourassa himself has been cautious and non-committal in expressing his opinion of the formula and has promised the Opposition that if the formula were accepted at the conference it would be submitted to the national assembly for ratification.

However, he said, Quebec recognizes that the other governments are impatient with the meagre results of the long series of constitutional conferences and are anxious to bring back a concrete achievement from Victoria.

Flowers Enhance Bride's Hair For May Day Wedding Theme

Tiny pink and white flowers scattered in her blonde hair completed the spring look chosen for the wedding of Laurie Ellen MacIntosh and John Cameron Kerr on May 22. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. MacIntosh of Kelowna and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kerr of Kelowna.

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. John Davidson in a setting of pink, white and mauve flowers in St. Paul's United Church, where the pews were decorated with white ribbons. Mrs. Jean Gibson presided at the organ for the early afternoon ceremony.

Twenty pearl buttons down the front set off the full length A-line gown of chantilly lace over satin worn by the bride. A lovely Maiden Mary hood with satin lining was edged with lace and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations with a scattering of leaves. She was given in marriage by her father.

A dainty topaz necklace from the groom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. R. Ruffi of Kelowna was the something old and a lace hankie was borrowed from the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Kiewer of Calgary.

Maid of honor Carol Jernberg of Kelowna also wore tiny flowers scattered in her hair, complementing her long lace gown of delicate mauve. She carried mauve and purple carnations with long scattered leaves.

Emil Guilbault served as best man and ushers were Norman Kerr, brother of the groom and Lorne Schmalz, all of Kelowna.

A soft pink fortrel dress with matching coat was worn by the bride's mother who received the guests at the reception which followed at the Capri. A corsage of white carnations sprayed with pink and white accessories completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's mother chose a delicate yellow crepe dress with pleated long sleeves and a pearl trimmed collar. White gladioli formed her corsage.

Pink and white carnations continued the color theme on the white lace cloth which covered the bride's table. Pink candles in gold candelabra and the bride's ribboned knife completed the decor.

APPRECIATION
Toasts were proposed by William Sinclair Thompson who also read a telegram of good wishes from Scotland. The bride and groom each gave speeches of appreciation to their respective parents.

Before leaving on a honeymoon at Banff the bride changed to a soft turquoise and white fortrel pant suit with white accessories.

The young couple will reside at 1250 Belaire Ave., Kelowna. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ellen Kiewer of Calgary; Jack H. MacIntosh, brother of the bride; Nicki King, both of Calgary; Jack Williams, Victoria, a great uncle of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. G. Foxall, aunt and uncle of the groom; Sechelt, B.C.; and Lorraine Paul of Vancouver; Mrs. Les York, Kinnaird, B.C.; Rodney Williams, Richmond, and Robert McLellan of Coquitlam.

couch. The next morning I complained bitterly.

Now I snore. In fact I snore so badly at times that I wake myself up. My husband has never said one word about it. I know he must hear me. He isn't deaf. His patience and understanding has made me truly ashamed.

Now his snoring no longer bothers me. It's all a matter of adjusting one's thinking — and since I've become a snorer, my thinking has adjusted considerably. — Joanne The Rank

Dear Ann Landers: When I married my husband seven years ago he was converted to my religion. By his own admission it was no great sacrifice since he had no feeling about religion one way or another.

I have been trying to get pregnant for five years. Six months ago my husband and I decided to adopt. We were interviewed by two agencies connected with our church. When the social worker asked about our religious convictions, my husband said he was an atheist.

That religion was a cruel joke since he was embarrassed to death but there was no stopping him. We did NOT get a baby.

We are being interviewed next month by another agency. I'm afraid if my husband continues to talk along these lines we will lose out again. Any suggestion? — Empty Nursery

Dear E. N.: Not all adoption agencies are church affiliated. Your best bet is to try one of these.

Starting with the holiday weekend, Kelowna's Lady of the Lake, Heather Martin began a busy schedule of activities and public appearances. On the Victoria weekend she attended the Falkland Rodeo, accompanied by Lady in Waiting, Holly Ann Corrie. Mrs. Nolen Peters chaperoned the two girls who rode the Kelowna float in the rodeo parade.

Mrs. Nolen Peters, who is the official chaperone for the Lady of the Lake, accompanied Heather Martin to Calgary on Wednesday where the latter will take part in a Regatta promotional tour in this year's "honor city". Among a number of public appearances she will be appearing extensively on both television and radio. They will continue on to Edmonton this week to take part in a similar round of promotional duties.

Twilight Ceremony In St. Paul's United

Rev. John Davidson officiated for the twilight ceremony at St. Paul's United Church, Kelowna, which united in marriage, Marjorie Ellen Gibbs of Westbank and James Douglas Lohr of Kelowna. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbs of Westbank and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Lohr of Kelowna.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white lace pant suit for her May 21 wedding, and carried a bouquet of spring flowers. Maid-of-honor, Gail Balsan of Westbank, chose a blue princess line dress. Best man was Andy Culos of Kelowna.

For the reception at the Capri the bride's mother received wearing a winter white dress, accented with corsage of gold daisies. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue suit dress with corsage of blue chrysanthemums.

Toasts were proposed by the bride's father. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The groom's parents entertained at their home on Sallows Road following the formal reception.

For a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, the bride donned a pant suit of white with mauve, completed with brown accessories.

The newlyweds will reside in Kelowna.

SWINGING PARTNERS

By K. M.

The annual campout held Sunday and Monday at the Spot, sponsored by the Okanagan Square Dance Association, was once again a success. Registration for the day and evening activities totalled 245.

The beauty contest was hilarious with 13 handsome men competing, some wearing centennial costumes. The judges, Scotty Hitchman of Winfield, Lloyd Shannon of Summerland, Harry Gilmore of Vancouver, had a tough job choosing the winner. However, Lou Austin Lamb of Penticton Wheel-N-Stars was chosen Campout Sweetheart of 1971. This is Austin's second year as Campout Sweetheart. Princesses were Miss Molly (Murray Robbins, Westside Squares), Hot Lips (Ron Kesley, Peach City Promenaders), The Stardusters of Vernon were in charge of the Sweetheart Pageant.

The Wheel-N-Stars of Penticton were presented with the Gold Challenge Trophy for the club receiving the most points in the sports events. The Peach City Promenaders and the Kelowna Wagon Wheelers were in charge of the sports events. "Coolers" awards were handed out by Mary Dorn of the Caller Teacher Association to those with courage to call a tip.

Men and women alike enjoyed the horseshoe tournament, especially the winners. The mixed doubles were won by Kay and Bob Morris; men's doubles were Lee Vandecasteyen and Jim Jones. Men's singles, Lee Vandecasteyen.

A couple or family whose total in age numbered 100 years, this being centennial year. The lucky couple, Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Rasmussen of Summerland.

The talent show was well received with skits, solos, dancing. The winners were Wendy and Mike King doing a duet Little Reddrops Are Falling on their guitars. Second place winners were the Wistlers, Harold Domi, Stan McKay, Tom Carey, dressed in tall black hats and jeans. Third place winners were the Wagon Spokes by a group of young dancers, dancing a square to the calling of Lyle McClelland.

The Wheel-N-Stars were in charge of the campfire and singalong. The Circle K were

TOO WELL DRESSED

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Pedestrians heard pounding from the inside of a downtown department store and summoned the night watchman. When the door was opened, out stepped two girls, aged 13 and 14, who said they had been locked in when the store was closed. The suspicious night watchman called the police. At the police station, a feminine attendant was even more suspicious, since the girls were unusually well dressed. After questioning for some time, the girls admitted they had stolen new clothing from head to foot and had discarded their old clothes in the store.

Nurses Needed In Health Plans

VANCOUVER (CP) — The board of directors of the Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia said Tuesday night nurses must be included in planning for radical changes in the delivery of health services.

In a meeting preceding the opening of the association's 55th annual meeting today, the board charged that fragmented health services in B.C. currently do not meet the best use of the tax dollar.

The board urged a unified approach, integrating public health, mental health and hospital insurance services to provide better care for the public. It said the association's offer to assist in such planning was accepted by Health Minister Ralph Loffmark a year ago, but to date the association has not been given the opportunity to participate.

ANN LANDERS

Special Message For China 'Snoop'

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago you printed a letter about a woman who had a habit that annoyed many hostesses. Mrs. Clodville considered herself an authority on fine silver and china. Whenever she attended a tea, a lunch or a dinner, she examined everything as if she were appraising it for sale.

This reminded me of a priceless story which is true. My mother tells it about her late sister-in-law. It was not uncommon for Aunt Elizabeth, while visiting for the first time in the home of a magnifying glass from her purse and hunt for a hall-mark on a piece of silver. Needless to say the hostesses were appalled by her bad manners.

One day my mother and a friend decided to teach Aunt Elizabeth a lesson. They took her to a tea in the home of a Radcliffe classmate who had moved from Boston to Virginia. They told Auntie about the woman's lovely heirloom possessions. They also tipped off the hostess.

When tea time came, my mother saw to it that my aunt "The Appraiser," was the first one at the tea table. As everyone expected, she furtively turned the plate over to see the marking. In large block letters she read the message which had been pasted on: "WE KNEW YOU'D LOOK."

Aunt Elizabeth was so mortified she never looked again after that. — Weston, Mass.

Dear Wes: A painful cure, but she had it coming. Thanks for a delightful story.

Dear Ann Landers: May I have the last word on snoring? For years my husband snored intermittently—when he had a cold, too much to drink or was extremely tired. It happened eight or 10 times a year. I'd toss and turn, give him a kick in the leg or an elbow in the side. Then I'd drag my pillow and blanket to the living room and spend the night on the

Women In Same Positions Earn Less Than Male Workers

PENTICTON (CP) — A researcher for the British Columbia Labor Federation said Monday a preliminary survey of salary and wage rates in the province shows women earning less than men in every category except one.

Phyllis Young was speaking in a panel discussion on the status of women report during the three-day annual convention of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of B.C. and the Yukon which ended Monday.

"She said the higher a woman goes up the ladder of skill and responsibility, the greater the difference in pay. Male accounting clerks earned 11 per cent more than women in the same job. Male bookkeepers earned 35 per cent more and male office managers 41 per cent more. She did not say in which category women did not earn less than men.

"Present legislation on equal pay is completely ineffective," Miss Young said, "because it requires the individual to file the complaint. "The onus is on a woman to prove that discrimination has taken place. This intimidates most women workers who would rather work for less money than risk losing their jobs."

WOMEN THE KEY Joan Wallace of the status of women action co-ordinating council of B.C. told the panel that women themselves hold the key to improving the situation. They could not leave it up to men to formulate action, but could learn a lesson from the way men fought the federal white paper on taxation.

"Businessmen didn't sit back and talk politely to each other about those tax proposals," Mrs. Wallace said.

"They formed organizations. They prepared briefs by the hundreds and wrote letters by the thousands. They flew back and forth to Ottawa to appear before the Senate and Commons committees to state their case." She said that when Finance Minister Benson presents his tax changes in June, the fight by businessmen will probably be proved worthwhile.

Working Women Must Be Concerned Before Thinking Will Be Changed

OTTAWA (CP) — Women must show more concern about their place in the working world before they can expect swift changes in men's thinking, a study of union workers in Quebec concludes.

The study, released Wednesday, was done for the royal commission on the status of women by Renee Geoffroy and Paule Sainte-Marie.

It is based on about 500 questionnaires and 30 interviews with active unionists. The average worker answering the questionnaire was a French Canadian manual laborer with children and a working wife.

The researchers found that these workers tend to feel the women, lacking interest in bettering their working status, are most to blame for the position they are in.

But the study also showed that the attitude of men unionists to women's employment is "still wrapped in a web of contradictions."

WOMEN INFLUENCED TOO

"Convinced that women of necessity work only 'for a time,' and that their wages can only be 'pin money,' they judge women workers on the basis of these assumptions," the study said. Women were also conditioned by this thinking.

Individually, men in trade unions clung to the age-old concept that a woman's place is in the home. But as union members, they had to admit that women workers have the same rights as they did and that the

Special Meet A Big Success

Four Kelowna and district children will take part in the second annual Canadian Olympics for the retarded.

At the regional track and field meet for the mentally retarded Wednesday at City Park Oval, Edward Weiss, Lennie Tryki, Cindy Lutz, and Glenda Whittle qualified with five other Okanagan competitors, to travel to Toronto in June for the national championships.

In the 14 and 15 age class competition, Weiss took first place in the 50 and 100 yard dash, and low hurdles, placed third in the standing broad jump and second in the high jump. Tryki tied for first in the standing broad jump, while placing second in the ball throw, and third in the low hurdles.

Other outstanding performances came from Allan Blifford of Kelowna, who placed first in the 16 and 17-year-old 50 and 100 yard dashes, and the standing broad jump.

Kelowna girls outshone all competitors, with Miss Whittle leading the way with a first place in all six events in the 12 and 13-year-old competition. Miss Lutz, in the 10 and 11-year-old category, along with Cathy Rueb in the 14 and 15-year-old age group each took four firsts. Another big winner was Christine Smith, with two firsts in the 16 and 17-year-old competitions.

Teams from Vernon, Penticton and Osoyoos also took part in the meet, opened by W. A. C. Bennett.

The first value of participation, it is felt, is to have a more regular and formal training program to follow in school physical education programs.

The second value being that by planning the regional meet prior to the olympics, all the children participating would experience the excitement and pleasure of competing with their peers in a friendly spirit.

From the smile on their faces Wednesday, all was accomplished.

Orioles Looking For Sixth On Trip To Kamloops Tonight

The Kelowna Orioles will attempt to stretch their winning streak to six games tonight when they meet the Kamloops Okonots in an Okanagan Mainline Baseball League game in Kamloops.

The Orioles, who lead the second place Okonots by a half-game in the OMBL standings, will be missing two or three key players for tonight's encounter, but they will be in relatively the same position as they were two weeks ago when they met Kamloops in their season opener and were victorious 3-2.

Mike Burdett, providing he is well enough to pitch, will start for the Orioles; otherwise Don Favell will have to be called upon. Burdett was slightly injured in a car accident Wednesday morning, which has made his status questionable.

All Alone In First

Bridge Service moved into sole possession of first place Wednesday as they defeated Locker Room 12-3 in a South Little League game at Osprey Park.

Greg Claggett led a 12-hit attack for Bridge Service as he belted two doubles and a triple and drove in five runs.

Either Wayne Plummer (0-2) or Bob Bridges (4-0) is expected to start for Kamloops.

In an OMBL game played Wednesday in Penticton, the hometown Molsons edged the Vernon Labatts 5-4.

Good Start For Lang

Dean Lang, working his first game of the season, pitched a no-hitter as Kelowna Westlake Paving bombed Peachland 12-1 in a South Okanagan Senior Babe Ruth League game Wednesday at Elks Stadium.

Lang, who has had little chance to pitch this year as he has had to work around Mark Lang (no relation) and Jerry Kielbiski, struck out 11 and lost his bid for a shutout in the seventh inning.

The win was the sixth of the season for Westlake, and left them on top of the seven team South Okanagan standings with a perfect 6-0 record.

In a Senior Babe Ruth League game played in Rutland Wednesday, Kelowna Dairyland whipped Rutland 8-4, to complete a sweep of a two-game series. Monday, Dairyland edged Dions 6-5.

John Hatch led the way offensively for Dairyland Wednesday, as he lashed a single and a bases loaded triple. Lyle Retzlaff picked up the win.

Labs Put It Together For Season's Second

The Kelowna Labatts of the Kelowna and District Senior B Softball League found the keys to success Wednesday, and downed the Willow Inn Willows 4-2 in King's Stadium.

The Labs, with a 1-7 record going into the game, have been the victim of weak bat work at the plate as well as poor defensive play in the field. Wednesday both were remedied.

The Willows John Chadwick, who was a star in the Rutland tournament during the weekend (pitching a no-hitter), was touched for seven hits, including a home run by opposing pitcher Lorne Gauley in the seventh inning, and run-scoring hits by Jerry Keys and Mike Nakata.

The runs batted in by Keys and Nakata were an example of what the Labs must have to be competitive this season.

Keys, a veteran with the Willows before switching over to the Labs a couple of years ago, was hitless on 21 previous trips to the plate, before ripping a double down the third base line in the fourth inning, bringing in the first run and scoring himself on a throwing error by left fielder Don Radcliffe.

Meanwhile, Nakata, with a lean .167 average, pounded out his second hit of the night in the fifth inning to drive in the winning run, and played a flawless but busy game at second base.

As well as putting together a decent offensive attack, the Labs played errorless ball, and came up with some exceptional plays in the meantime. Pitcher Gauley, as well as helping out his cause with a solo blast, scattered six Willow hits, striking out four and giving up but one walk.

The Willows scored their only runs in the sixth inning, with lead-off Ron Pyle, and John Chadwick hitting doubles, and Rod Bennett poking out a run-scoring single.

The win still left the Labs in last place, while the Willows remain in third behind second-place Rutland Rovers and league-leading Budget Boys.

Tonight, all four teams are in action, with the Budget Boys and Willows playing a rescheduled game in King's Stadium, and the Labs and Rovers meeting in Rutland.

Softball fans are reminded the Kelowna Realities, the city's senior women's softball club, will have the concession stand at King's Stadium open for the remainder of the games this season for your convenience.

Fourteen Named To Hall Some Are Still Active

TORONTO (CP) — A world champion bowler and a veteran golfer still active were among 14 persons named today to Canada's Sports Hall of Fame.

In announcing the newcomers to the Hall in a release by W. Harold Rea, chairman of the Hall of Fame's board of governors, the selection committee noted that the unusually large number stems from a backlog of nominations "and the outstanding talents and contributions made to his country by those in the nomination lists."

The 14 named this year are the largest group elected in any one year since the Hall's inception in 1955.

Graydon (Blondie) Robinson of Toronto earned automatic recognition for capturing the world 10-pin bowling championship at Tokyo in 1969. This is the last year a world championship qualifies as automatic entry into the Sports Hall of Fame.

Nick Weslock, Windsor, Ont., born golfer, is still at 54 one of the world's outstanding amateurs and a perennial contender for amateur golf laurels in Canada.

He is, or has been, affiliated with various posts in horse racing and in charge of minor National Hockey League officials for 20 years.

He has also been president of the sports commission of La Presse Nationale, a founding member of the federal Sports Advisory Council; French-Canadian secretary to the Montreal Athletic Commission, and vice-president of the World Boxing Association.

Chenier, born in 1907, learned his trade while employed as a bellhop in Detroit then applied his prowess on a world-wide basis while living variously in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Victoria.

Considered one of the five top pocket billiard players in the world, Chenier held the North American snooker title from 1948 until his death just before Christmas, 1970.

Miss Tanner earned the name Mighty Mouse for her accomplishments in the water and in 1966, at 15, was named Canada's outstanding athlete, pro or amateur, with good reason.

During that year's Commonwealth Games in Jamaica, she collected seven medals—four gold and three silver in both individual and team events. In her brief but meteoric career, Miss Tanner held several world records in assorted categories — butterfly, freestyle and backstroke.

But the one that eluded her was a gold in the Olympics although she was runner-up at Mexico City in 1968 in both the 100 metre and 200 metre backstroke events.

Jerome and Crothers are of a more recent era. Jerome as a sprinter and Crothers in middle-distance running. Jerome became the first native Canadian to officially hold a world track record when, at 19, he ran the 100 metres at 10 seconds to become co-holder of the mark with Germany's Armin Hary. He also shared the world mark at 100 yards and in the 440-yard relay.

He ran for Canada in three Olympics—1950, 1954 and 1958—and in all Pan-American Games from 1959 through 1968.

Crothers, long one of the world's top half-milers and a silver medalist in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, finally emerged at the zenith of his specialty by defeating world champion Peter Snell of New Zealand before 19,000 at Toronto's Varsity Stadium in 1965.

Source said the deal was contingent on a group of businessmen gaining an AHL franchise. The Buccaneers would be a wholly-owned subsidiary of Recreation Corp. of America, headed by C. T. Robertson of Florida.

Heading the group seeking the franchise is Bob Clarke, chairman of the AHL's board of governors.

Canada Back On The Scene

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — Sensing the futility of keeping amateur hockey down on the farm, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association voted Wednesday to re-enter international competition in all divisions except those involving world or Olympic play.

"We now feel our policy was a negative one, and it was time to review the stand and begin bargaining," CAHA president Earl Dawson said after the association had given unanimous approval to the motion at its annual meeting.

Canada pulled out of international hockey competition in January, 1970, when the International Ice Hockey Federation reversed its decision to allow Canada use of professional players in world championship play. The CAHA decided then there would be no exchange of teams between Europe and Canada until the Canadian team was allowed to use professionals.

BECAME NEGATIVE Dawson said the association's stand was not a negative policy at first, but had become that way "because we had made our point."

The two-time Canadian champion staged a dramatic final with U.S. Lenavot of Thailand, finishing with four straight strikes to defeat the Thai by six pins.

Weslock, who now makes his home in Burlington, Ont., has been a member of Ontario's Willingdon Cup golf team 21 times, including 11 straight years from 1957 through 1967. Mayer has been a prominent voice in Quebec sports for almost a half century as journalist, broadcaster, author and administrator.

Cool Weather Help To Expos

Bill Stoneman prefers to pitch in cool weather because it helps him to save energy. What the Montreal Expos' right-hander failed to mention is that sometimes he can store up too much energy and he has to work it off while batting.

Atlanta Braves found that both things were true Wednesday night as Stoneman held them to two hits while stroking two hits of his own to spark a pair of Montreal rallies en route to an 11-1 humiliation of the West Division club.

"I like to pitch in cool weather because you waste less energy out there on the mound and you don't tire as quickly," he said after silencing the Braves' bats with a 10-strike out performance for his sixth win in eight decisions.

Stoneman started things off against loser Pat Jarvis, 0-7, with a one-out single in the six-run third inning. He moved to second when Ron Hunt was hit by a pitch and scored the game's first run on Rusty Staub's double down the right-field line.

Bob Bailey followed with a ground-rule double which bounced over the fence in right centre and Montreal led 3-0. Ron Fairly was intentionally walked but Jim Gosger crossed up Atlanta's strategy with the inning's third double, scoring Bailey with the fourth Expos' run.

Reliever Steve Barber came on to face pinch-hitter Clyde Mashore who was intentionally passed to load the bases.

Catcher John Bateman then stroked a two-run single to left and Montreal took a 6-0 lead into the fourth inning.

Expos boosted that to 7-0 in the fourth when Hunt led off with a single, moved to second when Staub was hit by a pitch and scored when Felix Millan threw a potential double-play relay past Orlando Cepeda for an error.

Stoneman began the Expos four-run eighth inning in much the same way as the third with a one-out single.

Hunt was again hit by a pitch, this time by Ron Herbel, before Staub walked to load the bases. Bailey then drove in his third and fourth runs of the game with a single before Herbel uncorked two consecutive wild pitches, the second allowing Staub to score from third. Bailey scored from third with Montreal's final run on Fairly's ground ball to second.

The only Atlanta player to solve Stoneman was Sonny

BILL STONEMAN ... hot at bat

Jackson, who accounted for all of the Braves' offence with a second-inning single and a seventh-inning homer over the right-field fence.

"He caught an inside fastball and got it up into the wind," Stoneman said of the hit which cost him a shut-out.

"I've got to give him credit, it's hard to get an inside fast ball up like that."

Stoneman almost did not make the start as the contest was continually threatened by rain.

At game time, a fine mist was falling and temperatures were in the low 50s with 15-18 mile-an-hour winds but the situation cleared up as the game wore on.

Some 6,263 Jarry Park fans and a national television audience watched as Stoneman pitched his second straight complete game win.

Last Saturday he muzzled Pittsburgh Pirates on four hits, striking out 14.

Manager Gene Mauch said after Wednesday's game that Stoneman has pitched "six complete games this year, almost as many as he pitched all of last season."

"He is now pitching consistently like he used to pitch apomatically."

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia Phillies nipped New York Mets 3-2 in 12 innings. St. Louis Cardinals trounced Chicago Cubs 9-4 and took over first place in the National League East. Pittsburgh Pirates shaded Cincinnati Reds 2-0, San Francisco Giants downed Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4 and Montreal Expos battered Atlanta Braves 11-1.

San Diego manager Preston Gomez of the Padres let starter Al Santorini pitch to one batter in the opener and then brought on southpaw Dave Roberts to face Houston's predominantly left-handed line-up.

"I knew Harry Walker wanted to pitch Dierker against Roberts," Gomez said. "When they saw Santorini warming up they had all those left-hand hitters ready to hit against him."

... And In The Labor Situation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilbur Wood is off relief and Bert Blyleven is back on strike. The two pitchers are throwing a lot of American League hitters out of work.

Wood delivered again in his new starting role as Chicago White Sox clouted Kansas City Royals 7-2 Wednesday night.

Blyleven staggered Milwaukee Brewers with a 12-strikeout performance in a 4-1 Minnesota Twins success.

It was Wood's third victory as a starter and second straight complete game in a career of 375 appearances. In none had he gone the distance until the last two.

California Angels beat Oakland Athletics 7-5 in 12 innings. New York Yankees trimmed Detroit Tigers 2-1. Baltimore Orioles clipped Cleveland Indians 3-2 and Boston Red Sox turned back Washington Sena-

Wood surrendered only six hits, including Dennis Paepke's two-run homer in the Kansas City seventh. But by that time the White Sox had broken up a scoreless duel between Wood and Kansas City's Mike Hedlund with a six-run sixth.

Blyleven encountered little trouble, giving up one fourth-inning run as Minnesota capitalized on Milwaukee mistakes. A Brewer's error helped the Twins break a 1-1 tie in the fifth and another miscue helped them score two more times in the sixth.

Blyleven wasn't satisfied with his performance.

"My curve wasn't breaking right," he said. "I didn't throw a good game."

Pinch-hitter Jim Fregosi blasted a two-run homer in the 12th inning to carry California over Oakland.

WINFIELD CENSUS TAKERS

Census representatives in the Winfield area will be busy next Tuesday as the census for the Winfield region, as well as for the rest of Canada will be taken. Winfield representatives include, front row, from the left, Theresa Trewitt, Mary Ramsay and Margarita Sewerin. Top row, Richard Ash, Dorothy Allingham, Pamela Wentworth, Francis Dobson and Maureen Kenney.

Winfield Census Taken By 8 Local Residents

WINFIELD (Special) — Census representatives for this area reported to the Centennial Room of the Winfield Memorial Hall on May 18 to begin their census training.

Mrs. Jean Greer is census commissioner and canvassers from Okanagan Centre are Richard Ash, Frances Dobson and Pamela Wentworth. Winfield representatives are Margarita Sewerin, Mary Ramsay and Phyllis Campbell and from Oryama are Maureen Kenney, Theresa Trewitt and Dorothy Allingham.

These census representatives will be dropping off questionnaires in this area in a few days time.

One of the primary purposes of the Census of Canada operation is not only to provide the official population count, but it indicates where the people who make up our society stand in relation to each other at a specific point in time. This year, that point of time will be Tuesday, June 1st.

Municipal governments need small area statistics for most important elements of their operations, such as schools, traffic, welfare, urban renewal and planning purposes generally. This is why, on census questionnaires to be distributed during the last week in May, questions will be found relating to sizes and types of housing, education, income, even the nature of utilities and services provided and the household appliances with which Canadian homes are equipped.

The process of taking census has evolved over a long period of time, dating back 6,000 years. The first "Canadian Census Act" was passed in 1841.

The Census of Canada is taken under the authority of the Statistics Act, which operates in two ways to protect both the accuracy of the information being gathered and the privacy of the person providing it.

All census takers must keep all information in absolute confidence, and a fine will be levied against anyone who breaks that trust.

Most Canadian householders will become their own census takers this year. Instead of visiting each family to ask questions and take down answers, a questionnaire will be left at each household to enable the family to study and answer each question before the census taker picks up the form.

Householders who answer all relevant questions will not have to discuss their answers with any census official. Each questionnaire, however, must be checked and edited by the local census taker who delivered it. Like all other census employees, the local representatives are sworn to secrecy.

Pioneer Residents Honored At Peachland Centennial

PEACHLAND (Special) — Sunday saw 175 persons sitting down to lunch at the community hall, Peachland. Honored guests were the pioneer medal recipients and all residents of the community before 1927.

As at least half of the guests were former Peachlanders and their guests, it was a time of old friends reminiscing of the past, school friends being reunited, both around the tables and over the microphone.

The Peachland centennial committee which organized the get-together kept formal speech making to a minimum, with J. K. Todd saying grace, and addresses of welcome from centennial chairman Ted Beet, and Mayor Harold Thwaite short and sincere.

Stan Elstone on behalf of the pioneers thanked the committee, especially Mrs. C. O. Whinton and Don Wilson, for all the time put in on their behalf. Master of ceremonies for the afternoon was J. G. Sanderson, who invited William (Bill) Reff, the only one of the pioneers who also qualified as a Peachland oldtimer, to cut the specially decorated centennial cake made for this occasion.

This ended all formal ceremonies, and took on the aspect of a family party, when first one and then another of the local residents and former Peachlanders got up to the microphone to say a few words, either about the old time families they came from or some humorous incident of the past.

Most spoke of their childhood in the community, which the old names represented had brought to mind.

As the old families were mentioned, to a newcomer of a mere 20 years it was like a street map of the community coming to life, to hear of these first families whose names are now municipal road names.

Some of the speakers were present residents such as Ted Topham, who spoke of his mother's and father's arrival in Peachland 60 years ago this month, and where most of the Topham children still make their home. Others that don't were still present for the occasion.

Such former Peachlanders as Paxton Marsh, Ted Clements, Lyle Seaton, Henry McCall and Doug Elliot all had a few words to say as did Bert Keating of Kelowna who is a frequent visitor to the community. Tom McLaughlin and Verne Cousins, present residents of well known families, also spoke.

Ivy Bradbury (nee Law), who worked on the committee to arrange this homecoming, told those gathered she hoped they would all be together again in the near future. Jack Wilson, a famous story teller of the community, amused the group with his stories of the past. A successful occasion and one that will be long remembered by all present.

At 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon an interdenominational church service was held in the community hall, arranged by J. G. Sanderson on behalf of Branch 69 Royal Canadian Legion, Peachland. Clergymen officiating were Dr. R. D. Mitchell of the Peachland United Church, Conan Robert Brown of St. Margaret's Church, Peachland, Father Michael Guinan of the Summerland and Westbank Catholic churches and Rev. D. O. Knipfel of the Baptist Church, Summerland. Music was by the Peachland Centennial Choir under the direction of Mrs. R. D. Mitchell, organist Mrs. J. K. Todd.

APPLES SPILL AT POWERS CREEK

WESTBANK (Special) — There was some excitement in Westbank Wednesday morning which was caused by a truck load of Newtown apples. It happened on Powers Creek hill, south of Westbank on Highway 97.

The truck load of apples was being transported from Penticton to Kelowna and while coming down the hill the load started to slip. By the time the Powers Creek curve was reached, part of the back end of the load flew off blocking the three-lane highway.

A Volkswagen was partly to blame as it went from side to side of the road hindering the truck driver. A grader and dump truck were soon on the job to clean off the road, and the police were soon there also to help.

But She Let Secret Drop In End

SOUTHEND, England (AP) — "How old are you?" the policeman asked Sheila Read, and when the svelte blonde refused to answer she wound up in court.

The beautician was one of the first women in England to face trial on an unchivalrous law that makes ladies reveal their age. Magistrates at Southend court, however, maintained their gallantry when they met Mrs. Read—who looks a bit like Betty Grable in her Hollywood heyday—and dismissed her charge against her.

"I'm no women's lib fanatic," said Mrs. Read, "but I get a big steamed up over women's rights and I think keeping her age a secret is one of them."

Britain's Vehicle and Driving Licences Act of 1969 specifies that drivers charged with traffic offences must give police their date of birth, to feed a computer information bank on licences.

Mrs. Read was charged with illegal parking and when she refused to tell the constable her age he charged her with that, too. She paid a £5 fine for the parking offence, but got off free on the second charge when she asked the court: "Why should I tell a computer my age?"

Outside the court she let the secret drop: "I'm 39 but I like to feel a few years younger."

NEW YORK (AP) — It was during March last year when entertainer Jackie Gleason's luggage—all 21 pieces of it—was being carried aboard the luxury liner France about to depart for Europe.

The waterfront commission said it was being carried by James Matuzewski, 49, and four other longshoremen. Matuzewski, said the commission, demanded a tip so Gleason's assistant, Frank Butler, handed over $50.

"What's this for?" Matuzewski was quoted. "The Great One gives. We always get around $450 from the Great One." So Butler gave $200 more to the longshoremen but refused to go higher.

Then, the commission said, a hiring agent, Edward Gray, 38, went to Gleason's state-room, demanded a drink and became a nuisance and was turned away.

Tuesday the commission announced the lifting of Matuzewski's licence to work on the piers and the suspension of Gray for 45 days.

Bank Of Canada's Secrecy 'May Be To Hide Mistakes'

OTTAWA (CP) — The mysterious mannerisms of the Bank of Canada probably cloak a self-preserving fear of being caught in error, a young economist told a Senate inquiry today.

Keith Acheson, 31, says in a submission to the Senate national finance committee that the central bank—regulator of the country's cash supply, controller of credit conditions and manager of government debts—mixes up its working methods and uses secret techniques that are hard to follow.

"By combining instruments in different degrees and sometimes in different directions, the central bank can make it more difficult to assess its performance," he says.

"A possible explanation of the active use of a variety of instruments is that by making its policy technically complicated the scope for effective criticism of its actions can be reduced."

Some previous expert witnesses before the committee's current inquiry into management of the Canadian economy have delivered passing blows at the federal bank, notably for causing wide swings in the supply of money available for spending and investment.

TAKES CRITICAL LOOK

But Dr. Acheson, a monetary specialist newly transferred to Carleton University from Queen's University, takes a deeply-critical look at central bank performance in a three-part submission drafted in company with Queen's economist John F. Chant.

Many features of central-bank behavior that otherwise would appear irrational seem rational when seen as part of a bureaucratic concern with prestige and self-preservation, the submission says.

Further, its use of secret methods of operation have permitted it to take action in areas where it has no legislative jurisdiction or to conduct policies that would not necessarily win political approval if the public knew about them, the authors say.

The submission refers particularly to the use of so-called moral suasion—the bank's authoritative persuasion of chartered banks and dealers in debt securities to follow a specified course of action.

Such covert methods permit the bank to draw attention to successes afterwards or to minimize the effects of failure through lack of disclosure, Dr. Acheson says.

CITES ACTIONS

Among examples, the submission cites actions by the central bank in its treatment of security dealers which have contributed to reducing the cost of government debt by a manner that amounts to requiring Canadians to pay.

"If Canadians did express a desire to continue to subsidize government borrowing, less clandestine arrangements than those at present in force could be construed," Dr. Acheson says.

Urging a change in the bank's practices, the submission says that "generally, monetary policy should be carried out in as simple and open a manner as possible."

In response to a specific advance inquiry by the Senate committee, Dr. Acheson says it would be a mistake to try and redress regional inequalities through central-bank manipulations of credit conditions.

NIXON WARNS Tensions Remain

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon warned here against over-optimism at an apparent easing of world tensions and said much work remains before an era of peace is achieved.

He cited hopeful developments in U.S. relations with the Soviet Union and China and the continued peace in the Suez, but added that moves there are only a beginning.

Nixon made his remarks in speeches at Mobile and Birmingham.

He told an audience in Birmingham that the U.S.-Soviet agreement to press for a pact limiting offensive and defensive nuclear weapons is a significant move toward peace, but more progress has to be made before the dangers are eliminated of confrontation between the super-powers.

He said, however, that the agreement is significant simply because it happened, and added that "even more important, if that commitment can become a reality . . . the super-powers will have entered into a new period of better relations . . . that will contribute to the peace of the world."

CHINA DIFFERENT

With China an easing of tensions will come more slowly, he said.

But, Nixon added in remarks to editors and broadcast executives from 12 southern states, he could think of no greater threat to peace than to have isolated from the world a nation with 808 million people and a dangerous nuclear capacity.

Change In Physical Education Termed A Must By Institute

VANCOUVER (CP)—A radical change in physical education instruction in British Columbia elementary and secondary schools was urged Wednesday in a report released by the Education Research Institute of B.C.

The report calls for greater emphasis on recreational activities such as hiking, dancing, country walks, tennis, badminton, swimming, golf, archery, sailing and skiing.

Its four authors said children are bored by present instruction and that the fitness level of Canadians is low compared with other countries.

They said present physical education relies too heavily on competitive sports such as football, track, rugby and basketball.

These involve only a small percentage of students, turn off the majority and do not prepare students for physical activity in adult life.

The report, prepared over the last three years, contains 237 recommendations.

The authors, Gary Pennington, assistant arts professor at the University of B.C., Jack Stevens, a physical education instructor at a North Vancouver junior secondary school, Barbara Kalus, an elementary teacher in North Vancouver, and Peter Moody, an assistant education professor at UBC, plan to send copies to every school district superintendent in the province, provincial cabinet ministers and federal Health Minister John Munro.

UTTERLY APPALLING

TORONTO (CP) — Most church music is terrible and inhibits religious development, a Montreal minister told the 47th annual meeting of the Toronto Conference of the United Church of Canada. "I'm utterly appalled by things I have been asked to stand up and sing on Sunday morning," said Rev. Robert Wallace, pastor of Montreal's Mount Royal United Church. "I hope that in the cultural explosion the church will not be left in a dark corner."

Star Badly Hurt In Ski Accident

BISHOP, Calif. (Reuter) — Western star Clint Walker, 43, today was reported in "fair to good condition" after a ski pole punctured his heart and he was taken 45 miles to hospital for open-chest surgery.

Walker, star of the television series Cheyenne and a number of western movies, had no pulse or blood pressure when he reached hospital an hour after the accident.

Two surgeons performed open-chest surgery to repair a pierced heart ventricle which was pouring blood into a sac around the heart, hospital officials said.

NO COMMITMENTS

Maritime Council Created

FREDERICTON (CP) — The premiers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island avoided commitments to Maritime union, but spoke optimistically of closer ties and co-operation this week after signing an agreement to establish the Council of Maritime premiers.

Premiers Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island and Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia signed the agreement at a noon ceremony and, following an afternoon of talks, spoke briefly at an evening banquet.

Premier Hatfield came the closest of the three to endorsing the concept of political union of the three provinces.

"I believe we must aggregate our efforts, our skills and our enthusiasm for our maritime way of life," he said. "Together we can do it." Mr. Hatfield, who has said previously the provinces should not be afraid to examine the concept with a view to full political union, told 200 invited guests at the banquet that changes must be made, new concepts and structures tried if the quality of life in the Maritimes is to improve.

Otherwise, he said, the provinces must remain content with the "status quo" which means a low standard of life for many.

SHARE PROBLEMS
He said the provinces share many problems, but also "many new advantages, new potentials and new hopes."

"Working together I believe we can realize those hopes."

He said the signing ceremony, held at the legislative assembly chamber here, was not a guarantee the provinces would agree on every issue, however. "Rather, it was a signal we will make a greater effort to work together."

Premier Campbell said he found the first formal meeting of the council, which convened in private session shortly after the signing. "A challenging adventure on a voyage of co-operation."

Mr. Campbell said the Maritimes could make "a great contribution to the fabric of Canadian life" and he did not want the opportunities to pass the province by.

But he added, "don't expect too many miracles to happen immediately."

It was suggested in 1969 that political union might not be an acceptable immediate solution for the Maritimes, but Prince Edward Island was committed to continuing the search for answers that would improve the well-being of the region.

Premier Regan said the opportunities open to the Maritimes could only be achieved by the Maritimes putting aside petty differences and working together.

The first council meeting will conclude today when the premiers, after another round of talks, hold a 6 p.m. news conference.

Formation of the council was recommended in a report which proposed eventual political union for the Maritimes. Commissioned by all three provinces in 1968, the report was released last November.

The agreement setting up the council said the provinces were unanimous in "their desire to promote unity" and it spelled out five main functions for the body:

—Discussion of matters of importance to the three provinces;
—Initiation of studies on economic, social and cultural matters;
—Co-ordination of public policies which "affect or concern" the Maritimes;

—Approval of joint Maritime submissions to the federal government, and —The power to set up the Maritime provinces commission, which the union report said should be established to develop government policy on a regional basis.

Mr. Hatfield said earlier Tuesday formation of the commission would be a key topic during the two days of talks by the premiers.

OPPOSE TAX

TORONTO (CP) — Revenue totalling $2,664,500 a year would be collected in Metropolitan Toronto if a 51-a-night tax was levied on each hotel room, said a report from the Convention and Tourist Bureau of Metropolitan Toronto. But the bureau said it would be opposed to the tax as it would place Metropolitan Toronto in an inferior competitive position in the tourist business.

Czechs Thank Red Invaders

PRAGUE (CP) — Czechoslovak Communist party leaders opened the long-delayed 14th party congress here and praised the 1968 Warsaw pact invasion to the applause of leaders of the five invading countries.

President Ludvik Svoboda, who said Aug. 21, 1968, that the invading troops arrived "without the agreement of the constitutional authorities of the state," today thanked the Soviet Union and its allies for their "international assistance."

"International assistance" now is the official term for the 1968 military intervention in Czechoslovakia where an estimated 80,000 Soviet troops still remain.

Cost-Cutting For Drugs
Aim Of New Ottawa Program

OTTAWA (CP) — A program designed to reduce the cost of prescription drugs by making doctors more aware of acceptable low-cost substitutes for brand name products was announced Wednesday by Health Minister John Munro.

The $2.36 million program, based on drug testing and inspection of manufacturing facilities, represents extension of a program begun earlier this year at the federal food and drug directorate, which now publishes test results regularly and inspects drug plants once every three years.

Under the expanded inspection program announced in the Commons, the directorate will increase visits to each of Canada's 104 manufacturing plants to once a year by 1973.

The expanded analysis program would concentrate initially on the 80 top-selling drugs that account for 55 per cent of prescription sales.

Selection would be based on sales volume, medical use, precision required in prescribing and the known risk of contaminants showing up in the final product.

WILL TEST EFFECTS

In addition to the content analysis program, drugs will be tested for effectiveness.

Claims for drugs would be reviewed and acceptable claims will be designated as such by 1975 for 80 selected drugs used in approximately 1,600 products.

The consumer affairs department will collect and store drug-price data.

Mr. Munro said he is confident the program will have a significant effect in reducing drug costs in Canada.

"I am fully aware," he said, "that many physicians and pharmacists are reluctant to prescribe and dispense generic or other low-cost drugs unless they can be sure they are of acceptable quality."

Spokesmen for the three opposition parties approved the program, but not without some criticism.

DOESN'T CURB SALES

P. B. Rynard (PC—Simcoe North), a medical doctor, said the program may lower the cost of drugs themselves but doesn't curb the excessive sales of mood-changing drugs.

Many of these were prescribed because doctors don't have the time to deal with less-urgent patients.

The government should begin an aid program to bring par-medical personnel into doctors' offices to deal with these cases.

Both he and David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) were unhappy that annual inspection of drug companies would not start until 1973.

Mr. Orlikow, a pharmacist, said the government should set up a Crown corporation to manufacture the most widely-used drugs.

Romuald Rodrigue (SC—Beauce) said the fact that the food and drug directorate has been examining drug plants only once every three years is evidence of inadequate consumer protection.

Death Toll Mounts To 11 In S. African Air Disaster

Three small South African air force jet planes, practising formation flying for the 10th anniversary of the republic, crashed into Table Mountain, Cape Town, in bad weather Wednesday, killing 11 crew members and officers, officials said. The planes smashed into mist-shrouded Table Mountain overlooking this South Atlantic seaport and exploded while practising for a flypast Monday during the anniversary celebrations. Defence Minister Pieter W. Botha announced the crashes to a stunned parliament.

Britain will double the quota for immigrants of Asian origin from its former East African colonies, it was announced Wednesday. The plan announced in Parliament by Home Secretary Reginald Maudling could bring the number of such immigrants to 9,000 or 10,000 a year.

Istanbul military command announced Wednesday the arrest of three more persons, bringing the total to six, wanted for questioning in the kidnapping-murder of Israeli Consul-General Ephraim Elrom and said nearly 1,000 persons have been detained in this city since March. A communiqué from the command said Cihat Saka and Hussein Karsli, both university students, were arrested by security officials. A third student, Erturkul Yesilova, surrendered to the authorities and was placed under arrest.

A United States defence department spokesman said in Washington Wednesday that new missile silos under construction in the Soviet Union may be for two separate missile systems. Spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said new evidence gathered in the last month gives some indication the Russians may be involved in "two separate systems of silo improvement."

S. Vietnam Ready On PoW Issue

SAIGON (Reuters) — South Vietnam said today it is ready to accept North Vietnamese conditions for a June 4 transfer at sea of 570 disabled prisoners-of-war from government prison camps.

A foreign ministry statement said the government "declares itself ready to accept the proposals set forth by North Vietnam concerning the date and place of the release as well as the conditions governing the operation."

First offered by South Vietnam April 29, the proposed release would be by far the largest yet of the war. The Saigon government also offered to transfer to a neutral country for temporary internment 1,200 prisoners held for four years or more.

North Vietnam, in a May 13 radio broadcast, gave the conditions for the transfer of the 570 prisoners, but made no reference to the 1,200. Also, it did not concede the captives were North Vietnamese, instead calling them "Vietnamese patriots."

Welfare Cases Told To Work

SURREY, B.C. (CP) — More than 300 able-bodied welfare recipients in Surrey will be advised to pick berries rather than pick up welfare cheques after June 1.

Municipal council has told it's welfare department to send out letters to employable welfare recipients suggesting that the social assistance cheques they receive next week should be their last for the time being because work is available picking berries.

Mayor Bill Vander Zalm said in an interview that if employable persons refuse to accept available work they are not entitled to welfare.

"If work is available, even though it is not the type of work they like, they should be made to accept it or be refused welfare," he said.

Council was told there are 349 persons on welfare who are capable of work such as berry picking.

NO REDUCTION
TORONTO (CP) — John Anderson, Metropolitan Toronto welfare commissioner, isn't expecting any dramatic reduction in the number of people on the summer welfare rolls. He said he was "cautiously optimistic" about the decrease in the number of welfare recipients in April, but expected it to be offset by an increase during the next couple of months.

Britain's entry into the European Common Market would not substantially reduce that country's purchases of quality Canadian grains, Otto Lang, minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat board, told the Commons Wednesday. But, in reply to questions from John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert), the minister said the implications for coarse grains would be "different." Many of these grains are available from ECM members.

Debate on a motion to condemn any shipment of Alaskan crude oil down the British Columbia coast continued in the Senate in Ottawa Wednesday, as the author fighting for its life. Senator Hazen Argue (L-Saskatchewan) called an amendment to his motion a polite way of killing it.

Alfred Donaghey, 65, of Sidney, was killed instantly Wednesday when struck by an eastbound loaded logging truck 10 miles east of Creston. RCMP said Donaghey was walking across the southern trans-Canada highway at the time. His wife Margaret was sitting in their car parked on the shoulder of the highway and witnessed the accident. She was treated in Creston Valley Hospital for shock and later released.

The British Columbia government will not present a brief to the International Joint Commission hearings June 4 at Vancouver on proposals to flood the Skagit River Valley. Resources Minister Ray Wulston said Wednesday. Mr. Wulston said in Victoria the commission is more interested in hearing from concerned members of the public and does not want the B.C. government to present a brief.

Justice Minister John Turner is in London to discuss the method for bringing the constitution to Canada. Acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp told the Commons Wednesday. Mr. Sharp said Mr. Turner will talk about the procedure that will be followed if agreement is reached with the provinces on a formula for amending the British North American Act in Canada.

Rocked by two powerful motors, Great Paul, biggest and most powerful bell in the Commonwealth, will resume its deep, booming toll today as it calls worshippers to St. Paul's Cathedral. Silent for seven years, the 17-ton giant, perched in one of St. Paul's huge towers, had formerly required the efforts of four bell-ringers. When these became scarce, the daily boom ended—until a mechanical tolling device was installed. "On a still summer evening, Londoners should be able to hear it up to seven miles away," says Paul Taylor, 57-year-old head of the bell-casting firm in Leicestershire where his father moulded Great Paul in 1881.

August Jack, Chemainus, will be 107 years old today, but the celebration is being delayed until Saturday to give all 60 members of his family a chance to attend. "He is still as active as he was a year ago," his son, Johnnie, 57, said Wednesday. "He split some wood, did a little housework and now is out for his evening walk."

Government Gains New Powers As Reorganization Bill Passed

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons passed the government's reorganization bill Wednesday, approving establishment of an environment department and empowering the prime minister to create new ministries of state.

Approval was given on an informal voice vote after two opposition amendments were defeated. The vote followed 23 days of debate.

James A. McGrath (PC—St. John's East) wanted the deputy minister of the environment to carry the added title of deputy minister of fisheries.

Under the bill, the present fisheries department would be eliminated.

Liberals defeated the amendment 108 to 73, standing against the three opposition parties.

SEeks PENSION CHANGE
Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) wanted public service pension provisions in the bill altered to give full pensions to public servants laid off after age 50.

Liberals stood alone again to defeat that one 105 to 67.

Standing in the 264-seat House: Liberal 149, Conservative 71, New Democrat 23, Social Credit 13, Independent 2, Ind-L 1, vacant 5.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

SEts UP DEPARTMENT
Major clauses of the reorganization bill would:

—Set up a department to take over environmental tasks now spread among several departments;

—Permit the prime minister to create new ministries to handle specific jobs such as urban affairs;

—Permit appointment of ministers of state for temporary assignments and to assist existing minister;

—Permit appointment of as many parliamentary secretaries as there are ministers;

—Provide early retirement benefits to top public servants.

After passing the bill, MPs attacked the government's proposal to put rye, flaxseed and rapeseed under Canadian wheat board jurisdiction.

Jack Bigg (PC—Pembina) said the move would cause farmers a long wait for payments from the board just as they now do for wheat.

Robert Simpson (PC—Churchill) said the change would put the northern Manitoba port of Churchill at a disadvantage compared with other ports because it has no facilities for grains such as rapeseed.

Debate on the reorganization bill echoed the dispute begun by Atlantic-region MPs when the bill was introduced last December: The elimination of the fisheries department.

The government finally bowed to opposition pressure Tuesday by giving the environment minister the extra title of fisheries minister.

The government also agreed to an amendment permitting Commons debate on each new ministry of state the government wants to create.

In return, the opposition agreed to lift the limit of five ministries that could be set up at any one time, and to pass the bill Wednesday.

Despite the revised title for the environment minister, Mr. McGrath said he found it hard to understand why the deputy minister could not also hold the fisheries title.

"We're too low on the totem pole," added Lloyd R. Crouse (PC—South Shore). Fisheries protection required more government action, not less.
